$20,000 payment not tied to road, Stowell boss says

The $20,000 payment offered by Stowell Products Inc. to the town of Woodstock is not necessarily tied to the proposal that the town give the mill access road over to Stowell.

Stowell Operations Manager Bob Bickford told The Citizen the proposal for the mill to take over ownership of the town road that passes through the mill is separate from the mill owner's desire to make amends for the $20,000 the town lost in back taxes when the mill changed hands.

"Our interest is to try to compensate them (the townspeople) for the twenty thousand they lost in back taxes," Mr. Bickford said. "The new owners would like to take ownership of the town road up to the cemetery, because they are concerned with potential liability in case of accidents, Mr. Bickford said."

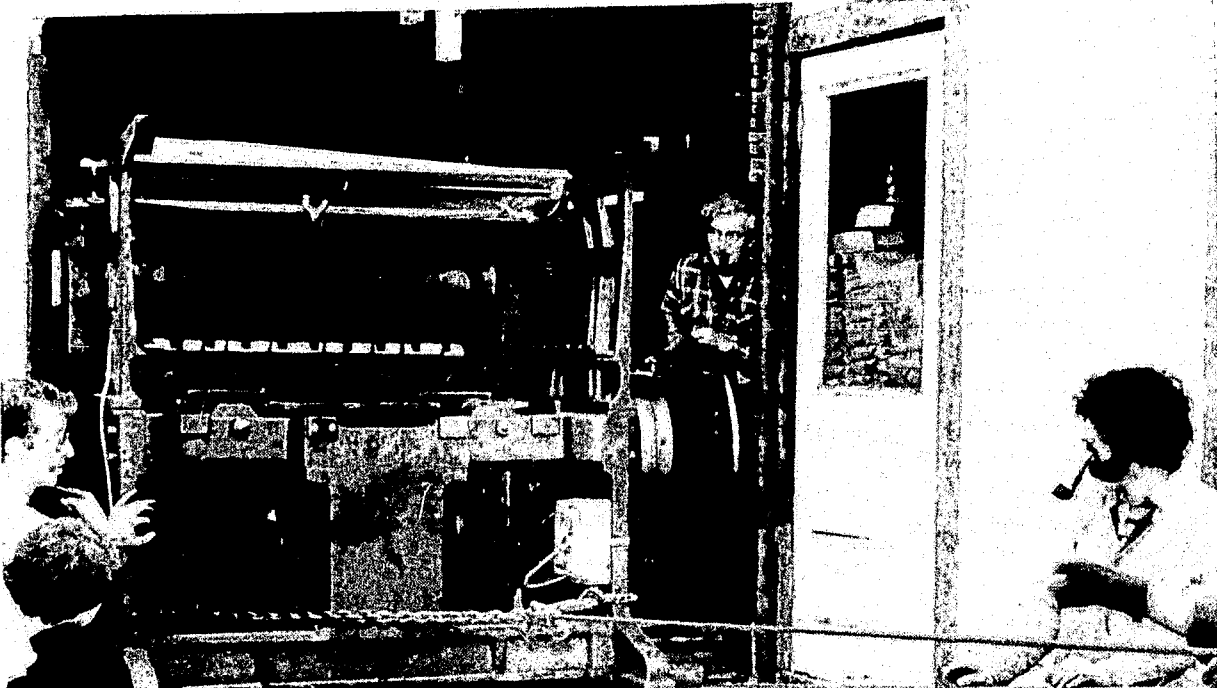

He and Stowell chief operating officer Doug Bucy spoke with the Woodstock selectmen two weeks ago and talked about taking over the road as well as about compensating the town for the lost back taxes. "But Doug was adamant that we are not hooked up to the deal (taking over the road in exchange for $20,000)," Mr. Bickford said. He added, the company would be equally willing to donate money towards the new grader, which purchase was authorized by special town meeting last week.

Following that meeting, the selectmen briefed townspeople on the request of the Stowell officials to take over the road, and of the offer by those officials to give the town $20,000.

The town lost the money when Casco Northern Bank sold the mill to the newly formed Stowell Products Inc. and refused to pay the back property taxes owed by Stowell Wood Products, upon whom the bank had foreclosed.

Operations Manager Bickford made it clear the new owners did not feel they were legally bound to pay the back taxes. "We have no legal obligation," he said, "but we feel we have a moral obligation."

TIGHT SQUEEZE: There wasn't much room to spare as The Citizen's vintage-1895 newspaper press came out the side of the Cole Block last Saturday. Peter and George Haines first removed the wall, after which Dave Brown, his father Irving (both above) and his brother Bob, jacked up the seven-ton press and got it on rollers. Then Gaudreault Repair got a cable on it and winched it to the opening of the wall, whereupon it was taken in hand by a tilt-bed wrecking truck from Massachusetts (above, with Geoff Gaudreault, right, watching) and winched onto the truck. The truck delivered it to Rowley Printing Co., in Rowley, Mass., whose owner Don Kent hopes to use it for scoring. After the old press was removed, a newer, used, 2½-ton press, which Buster and Mary-Jane Gaudreault delivered from Milo, was winched up an improvised ramp with the wrecker, as was an automated folding machine purchased from Rowley Printing. The new press and folder will be used for doing town reports and other large jobs.

Halloween Howl next Thursday at Telstar

Been scared about the troubles on Halloween in recent years? Have nothing to do? Well, the Telstar Stage Productions is having a spectacular event that will entertain both young and old.

It is called "Halloween Howl" and it will be at Telstar, from 8:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., next Thursday, Oct. 31.

Events include a spook alley, a cake walk, stories, a movie (which stars local elementary students), and many other forms of low-cost entertainment.

This event is targeted for children up to grade 6 and their parents so be sure to be there.

A low-cost meal will also be available along with a snack bar. There will be a costume parade and prizes will be awarded.

month, will not take place until December. There are six areas in Oxford County being considered by the DOE.

Mr. Quirk also said a team of DOE officials will meet the public at an informational session in Portland, at the Downtown Holiday Inn, on Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. He said the session is being held at the request of Gov. Brennan.

PERHAM'S LAWYER TO FILE MOTIONS PRIOR TO TRIAL

Craig Turner, the court-appointed attorney of Jody Perham—indicted on two counts of attempted murder and one count of escaping from jail—told The Citizen he will soon file motions in behalf of his client.

"Yes, there will be some pre-trial motions," he said.

"I have talked to my client at some length," he continued. "There's quite a bit to be done on the case."

Mr. Turner was on vacation in Massachusetts when Mr. Perham was captured and arraigned on the grand jury indictments Oct. 9. According to the superior court clerk, the attorney has 30 days from the date of the arraignment to file motions before a trial date is set.

Court Clerk Donna Howe earlier told The Citizen she didn't expect the case to come to trial until January or February of next year.

Mr. Perham, who is said to suffer from schizophrenia, is facing charges stemming from an alleged assault with a hunting knife against two people in a West Paris home last July. He had escaped from the county jail in September while awaiting the findings of the grand jury.

Rebel harriers going to regionals

Telstar's cross-country team will be at the Valhalla Country Club, in Cumberland, for the regional eliminations on Saturday, and Coach John Apple says David Kersey could possibly make the cut for the state meet if he turns in a personal best time.

Young Kersey did just that in last Friday's meet against Valley, of Bingham. He covered the Telstar 3.1-mile course in 17:58, the first time he had ever broken 18 minutes on the course. Nevertheless, his good time was only good for third place, as the first two places went to Valley, which won the meet, 18:37.

In a four-way meet last Wednesday, at Mt. Abram, Telstar runners took a second place, behind Carrabec, but beating out host Mt. Abram and Carrabasset Valley Academy.

Yesterday, the running Rebels came out third best in a tri-meet with Oxford Hills and Sacopee on the Telstar course. OHHS won the meet, with 30 points; Sacopee was second, with 45; Telstar was third, with 55.

Kersey bettered his best time again, with a 17:54, good for a third place among the 25 male starters.

Linda Learned was the first Telstar female finisher, in 24:51, good for eighth place among the 13 women starters.

N.H. garment factory plans to open satellite plant here

Gamm, Inc., a New Hampshire garment manufacturing firm, plans to open a satellite plant in the Bethel area, The Citizen has learned.

Gamm already has two factories—one in Ashland, N.H. (the headquarters of the firm), and one in Berlin. The Ashland plant employs 250 people and the Berlin plant employs 185.

Jeanette Demers, plant manager of the 27,000-square foot Berlin facility, told The Citizen she has been looking around Bethel and Locke Mills for a building in which she could set up an assembly operation to stitch ladies' clothing, mostly slacks. She expects the facility to employ 25 to 30 people when it begins operation.

"I started this plant (in Berlin) with nine girls," she said. "I know it can work in Bethel."

She cited labor shortages in the Berlin area as her reason for wanting to set up a satellite of that operation in the Bethel area. "In Berlin the labor force is getting scarce. The young people have left town. We find it's difficult getting employees."

She is familiar with the Bethel area, being a regular summer camper at Abbott's Anchorage, in Bryant Pond. She says she likes the local people and thinks they will benefit from the presence of an additional employer. "Something like this could be good for housewives," she said.

The Gamm official said she hopes to find a suitable building shortly, and added she could be in operation soon after signing a lease for the space.

Gamm Inc. produces clothing on order for such stores as K-Mart and Zayre.

Suspicious fire at Davis mill Sunday

A suspicious fire was discovered at the planing mill of the L.E. Davis Lumber Co., on Cross Street, Bethel, Sunday afternoon.

The fire, which apparently had been set in two places of one wall of the building, burned for about 45 minutes, Fire Chief Bob Davis estimated, before it was discovered by residents on Cross Street.

Chief Davis said although the fire was apparently set, it could not be determined if it was set intentionally. Neighbors reported seeing someone in the building earlier in the day and an empty beer can was found on the floor of the building.

Firefighters were on the scene shortly after the call came into the fire station and quickly got the flames under control before much damage was done.

Mill owner Danny Davis said the planing mill has been the scene of fires in the past, and at least one of those fires was probably intentionally set.

In Sunday's fire, the two areas of the wall where the fire started were areas where wood shavings were packed behind boards loosely fixed against the 2x4 studs.

Local hunters score in annual moose hunt

By yesterday, at least two local hunters were reported to have bagged moose in the annual week-long hunt, which opened Monday.

Mike Piawlock, of Woodstock, hunting with his daughter, shot a 910-pound bull near Greenville. He said he began hunting at daybreak Monday and bagged his moose around 4 p.m.

Ken Grover and Brian Piawlock helped him drag the animal the 200 yards to the road. He said the animal he shot was in a group of four bulls. Its antlers measured 57 inches across.

Dave Roberts, of Bethel, was hunting with Pete Seaberts, of Locke Mills, and reportedly shot a moose Monday. Neither man could be contacted for details.

Legislators take look at wood products

State legislators got a first-hand look at the wood products resources in the Bethel area and the problems facing the wood products industry.

Sponsored by the Maine Forest Products Council, some 70 people with an interest in the wood products industry were invited on an all-day tour last Wednesday. Among them were 15 state legislators. Local legislators were State Sen. Ed Erwin, Rumford; State Rep. Phyllis Erwin, Rumford; and State Rep. Joe Walker, Norway.

The members of the tour were welcomed by Council President Bob Chadbourne at the P.H. Chadbourne mill, in Bethel.

During the course of the tour of woodlots, yards and mills, experts impressed upon the visitors that modern forestry uses modern technology to help nature along. P.H. Chadbourne forester Sherm Small explained how by scarifying (scoring) the ground with a heavy metal drag, pine seeds stand a better chance of growing into seedlings.

Tom Saviello, of the International Paper Co. and a member of the state Pesticide Control Board, said that herbicides are helpful in controlling the growth of competing species of trees so continued on Page Six

EBS CHILDREN TO PARADE THURSDAY, OCT. 31

Watch out for Ghosts, Goblins, and Things that go Bump in the Night. The children of Ethel Biscoe School will have their Halloween Parade on Thursday, Oct. 31, at 12:45 p.m. They will walk from EBS to Main Street, up Main Street (Town Office side) then cross at the top of Main Street. They will go down the other side of the street to the Casco Bank then back to EBS.

Nov. 4 public supper tickets on sale today

Ernestine Riley, overseer of the arrangements for the Monday, Nov. 4, public supper and party being held at the Bethel Lions Den, reported that final plans for the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce-sponsored benefit affair have been completed.

Guest seating will begin at 5:45 p.m. and festivities will get underway at 6 p.m. Several games will precede the unique and satisfying menu, which will be followed by the awarding of a lengthy list of prizes and an enjoyable segment of family entertainment.

Robin Zinchuk, sales coordinator, advises that tickets may be purchased at the Bryant Pond Village Store, Prim's, Bethel Savings Bank, Locke Mills Marketplace, Casco Northern Bank/Bethel, and from any of the chamber directors. Call 824-2657 or 665-2226 for additional information regarding tickets or the dinner itself.

Marybeth Bayerlein heads the poster distribution; Bill Riley is responsible for newspaper insertions, and Sue Stevens will direct the table-serving staff.

Proceeds from this affair will be used to meet a portion of the chamber's expense growing out of its continuing program of advertising and promotion.

Hofbrau owner says he will build lounge on Rte. 26, Bryant Pond

Hofbrau owner Russ McDonald, thwarted by Greenwood voters in his attempt to purchase the former Locke Mills school and turn it into a lounge, says he has purchased 16 acres of land along Rte. 26 in Bryant Pond. Mr. McDonald says his new property has 1,900 feet of frontage on the road and will be ideal for his Mt. Abram Village Lounge. "I'm going to build the new place right in the middle of it," he said.

The restaurant and lounge will seat 400 patrons, he said, and will be 134 feet long and 96 feet at its widest point. It will be a T-shape. "This will be a beautiful place," he said. He plans to make it available for weddings and banquets when it is not serving as a restaurant and nightclub.

He has already taken out a building permit and is working on securing a bank loan. He said he wants to finance 60 percent of the construction cost with a bank loan.

He's hoping for quick action on his loan application. "If we get the OK from the bank, we'll be open this winter," he said.

MAINE HUMORISTS AT UMO

Four of the finest Down East humorists will assemble under the same roof during the Maine Storyteller's Festival, Oct. 25, in Hauck Auditorium at the university of Maine at Orono.

Joe Perham, Tim Sample, Kendall Morse and John McDonald, all well-known Maine storytellers, will be on hand to tickle funnybones and tell authentic Down East stories.

The event, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., will be sponsored by FOCUS, Center for Student Services. Tickets are $6, $4.50 for students, and will be on sale at the auditorium box office and at the door.

cedures to follow to get them on the air. Bill Riley presented the work of his committee to develop a "program of work" for the chamber.

Ernestine Riley reported that plans for the chamber-sponsored supper are completed and tickets will go on sale today.

A budget committee was appointed to work on the 1986 proposed budget. They will meet Friday and report back to the board next Tuesday morning at the regular meeting at Bethel Furniture Stock at the regular time—7:30 a.m. All are welcome.

The mill, was on vacation, but Mr. Bickford quoted him as having said, "I do live in Connecticut, but I'm also a citizen of Bryant Pond."

Stowell Products Inc. is a subsidiary of the Pace Corp., of Connecticut. Mr. Bucky is a principal of the parent corporation, which, through its subsidiary, purchased Stowell Wood Products shortly after it had been foreclosed by Casco Northern Bank.

The fact that Pace officials had been talking with former owner Dexter Stowell before the foreclosure, and the fact that Pace lawyers told their clients to buy from the bank rather than from the former owner upset town officials and workers alike.

When the mill was re-opened, only about one-third of the workforce was made up of former Stowell workers. At present, the mill employs 77 people, Mr. Bickford said, compared to 85 when the bank foreclosed. Whereas it was a union shop before, it is now non-union.

Ride-In '86 coming up

A good Maine supper of beanhole beans (Jacobs' cattle), a flea market at Newry, the red and gold leaves of autumn and a reminder that my Ski-Doo was in line for its fall check-up brought one thing sharply into focus: time is racing toward Ride-In '86.

The annual Newry Flea Market is one of the Windy Valley Snowmobile Club's efforts to raise money for our ride-ins. They also host our people at a mini-Winter Carnival held after the ride-ins at the picnic pavilion of Newry's Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wright.

Recently our ride-in snowmobilers and cross-country skiers met at the Webb River Valley's new clubhouse to organize for Ride-In '86.

Correspondence with service clubs will be handled by June Swan, of the Newry club. June and Lee Swan are among the ride-in's prime movers in the Windy Valley Club.

A nominating committee, consisting of Roger Conant, Dave Preble, Rollie Glines, Rick Whitney, Jim Monahan, and President Lennie Shaw met this past Tuesday evening at President Shaw's residence to select officers and directors of the Bethel club. After the confirmation process is completed, the names of the officers and directors will be announced.

The program chairman for the luncheon was Jim Monahan, and his guest speaker was Dr. Stanley Howe, director and curator of the Bethel Historical Society.

Dr. Howe is a native of the Bethel area, graduated from Gould Academy and then gained his doctorate, in Canadian History, from the University of Maine at Orono.

He spoke of the history of Main Street, Bethel, illustrating his talk with slides showing the historical development of the street. The program held the complete attention of our Rotarians and brought back many fond memories. Thank you, Stan, for giving of your time and a wonderful program.

The meeting for Oct. 29 will be held at The Bethel Inn. This will be a Ladies' Nite Social. A social hour, from 6 to 7 p.m., will precede dinner and the meeting. The guest speaker will be Eric Wight, of the Maine Warden Service.

Another week has passed and not as many pretty leaves on the trees because of the rain and wind. I keep hoping the good weather will last and that the leaves will hang on a little longer so we can admire the beauty of the fall foliage. I love to ride along and see all the many colors on a single maple tree. It is amazing the way nature colors the leaves that way.

Finally got our shell beans, pumpkin, that we bought, squash and most of the other things frozen. Still have a few tomatoes to can when they get ripe. Russell had taken care of some of the vegetables while I was at Sugarloaf with Wynona and children so that left less to do concerning them.

Started working on some craft ideas last Wednesday and Thursday as Christmas will be here before we know it. I like to do crafts and got a book that has a lot of ideas and patterns, too. I have made one of the items given in the book of padded bells and it took a lot longer than I had thought it would. It is a wall hanging and I finished it today and it really is very pretty. Also, saw a Santa at Mabel's that her mother had made and have made one of them with Wynona's help. She came and worked with me on Saturday and we got the pattern done and Santa pretty well on the way. I put the finishing touch on him today and he is adorable. Now I want to make a Mrs. Santa to keep him company.

Have had to make Russell some good pumpkin cake and apple dessert to keep him happy. He said he had forgotten what a pie looked like, so Bonnie brought one the day she was here. It was good, even though she lost her oven and the pie should have cooked a little longer.

Friday, I went to town with Russell and while he did some errands, I enjoyed just looking around for craft ideas.

Have been getting up too early lately as this rainy weather makes my troubles act out and I can't sleep. It gets along toward morning and I take some more pain pills and then can sleep. Don't know why it doesn't work at night when I want it to.

Russell got his clothes ready to wash the other night and in the morning, it was pouring. I told him he always seemed to pick a day when it was going to rain to do his wash. He decided to wait another day and was glad he did. It was cloudy and not the best drying weather, but his clothes got dried enough for him to get them in. I picked a fairly good day to do mine and thought today would be a good day to wash the towels etc. Got them in a little sooner than I had planned as I thought it might rain. Went to town this afternoon to do some errands. Don't go any more than I have to as it bothers me to drive much, but once in awhile I go and do things so Russell can have the time to do whatever he wants to do at home. He was digging in the dirt and getting ready to plant some peony bulbs. Also had some blue flax come and hasn't been able to find much information about that so don't know whether he has planted it right or not or what to expect of it.

We have heard from Laura; in fact she was here the other day and seemed good after her bout with pneumonia and stay in the hospital. We didn't know she had been there until she was home again. Was glad she is better and so glad I seem to be a little better now too.

By MYRA FOSTER

Alder River Grange will meet Friday evening, Oct. 25, 7:30 p.m.
Mr. and Mrs. Philip Coolidge, Miss Velora Kimball and Bruce Tuominen visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball on Saturday, Oct. 12, and watched movies with them on Sunday, Oct. 13. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piper visited the Kimballs recently and showed them pictures of their trip to California.

Chester Kimball celebrated his 83rd birthday with a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball Oct. 13. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Andre Bernier, Ryan, Danielle and Jerry. Mrs. Bernier made the cake for her father.

Tinker Gibson was a holiday weekend guest of her aunt, Mrs. Paul Kimball. On Monday, Mrs. Kimball and Tinker visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perry in Mechanic Falls. They also visited Mary Record and took her some vegetables and apples. After having lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Perry, they all went to Auburn to visit the new grocery in the mall.

Mrs. Paul Kimball visited the Foster homestead on Oct. 14.

Mrs. Myra Foster and Albert Foster attended a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stearns in honor of the birthdays of Dan Stearns and the Rick Westleigh on Friday, Oct. 18.

The lovely rain we had this week has surely helped the wells, rivers and lakes. And the sun on Wednesday certainly brought out the glory of the fall foliage.

Irene Andrews of Windsor, Nova Scotia; and son, Reg Andrews of Halifax, Nova Scotia; Mrs. Dorothy Graves of Bethel; were guests for a week at the Bartlett homestead recently. Clayton Grange Hall for the wedding anniversary of Ernest and Gwendolin Holt on Sunday afternoon. They had a lot of friends and relatives come and lots of cards to wish them a happy 50th anniversary. The lovely flowers wouldn't let me stay as long as I would have liked. I still had my voice but was very hoarse and had to use inhalers to help me get back my breathing. Wish I didn't have to, but must live with allergies as best I can.

How I wish I could take a long walk in the woods and scuff through the leaves as I used to do. I liked the sound of the leaves beneath my feet and as kids, we used to rake up big piles of them and jump in them. The kids today don't know the fun of raking leaves and running through or jumping in them. The TV is there to take up their time and they don't get the fun that we did. I feel they would benefit from some of the old time activities a lot more than watching a TV program. Some of it is educational but not as much as it ought to be. Of course, that is only my opinion and each is entitled to that, as far as I know. Hope it doesn't change while I am alive.

Halloween will soon be upon us. The piles of candy in the stores remind us that it will be trick or treat time soon. Didn't have many last year and hope we don't this year. I like to see the children dress up but hate to think someone might put something harmful in the goodies they give the children.

BETHEL TOURISTS AT ISLAND HOUSE, on Mackinac Island, Mich.: The group went on a tour from Sept. 22 until Oct. 3 and visited Niagara Falls, Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie, as well as Mackinac Island. The tourists are, Arlene E. Brown, Beatrice Brown, Ethel Ward, Betty Blake, James Brown, Martha Von Zint, Julia Brown and Doris Fraser.

Bartlett of Kennebunk; Mr. and Mrs. John Swan of Dixfield; Mrs. Julie Brown and son, Jon of Rochester, N.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Calderwood, Mesa, Ariz.; were recent callers at the Bartlett home.

Mrs. Lillian Bartlett, Mrs. Floribel Haines, Mrs. Peggy Coolidge, Mrs. Maud Danforth and Mrs. Agnes Haines attended the Senior Citizen meeting at Sunday River.

Mrs. Floribel Haines and Fred Haines were in Fryeburg and North Conway Friday. They also attended the wedding of Miss Julie Hastings and Robert Lowell Sunday in Bethel.

Mrs. Mary Toft Walton of Portland is an expected guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Honkala of Virginia were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hastings last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tyler returned home Friday from visiting relatives in Yarmouth for the summer.

Mrs. Myra Foster returned home Saturday from visiting her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maxwell in West Lebanon, N.Y. While there she attended the Ladies' Fellowship meeting and had the privilege of hearing Miss Connie West, a member of the executive council on AIDS, who spoke on the misconceptions of the danger of the disease. The talk was very interesting. I have seen her on television telling a little about AIDS. Also while I was there I attended a meeting of the Heart of the Berkshires Grange.

Sunday Mrs. John Foster of Andover took me to a baby shower for my granddaughter, Mrs. Linda Westleigh, in Rumford Corner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stearns. The party was hosted by Mrs. Dan Stearns of Rumford Point and Mrs. John Hutchins of Portland. Mrs. Westleigh received many lovely gifts.

Howard Crockett took Albert Foster for a ride around the mountains Sunday.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lescault and Mark Jr. were his grandmother, Mrs. Cora Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Dubois, all of Attleboro, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lescault were in Portland Tuesday for her medical check-up.

With Mr. and Mrs. Craig Turner, Sarah, Amber, David and Jonathan Bean of Otisfield, I spent the day Monday visiting my brother and family at Quaker Hill Farm in Unity.

Dr. Robert Lincoln and son Mark of Hingham, Mass., spent the weekend at his mother's home here.

Last Sunday visitors of the Jimmy Kimballs were Mrs. Deanna Andrews, Lynn and friend from Auburn, Mrs. Dot Orino and friend from Gorham, N.H., were callers Tuesday afternoon. Also recently visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pepin of South Portland.

Hugh Awaft of Augusta has been doing some insulating and repair work for Mrs. Myra Doyen.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kimball were in Portland Friday for his medical check-up. Mr. and Mrs. Pat Grenier went with them for the day.

Lawrence Kimball is a surgical patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsons attended a concert in Berlin, N.H., Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevens are living in a mobile home on a lot next to Mrs. Ann Cross.

The tongue of a 91 foot blue whale captured in the Antarctic in 1947 weighed 9,460 pounds and its heart weighed 1,540 pounds. Unfortunately that is the same ratio found in some humans.

How I hate the shorter days! One person said that they like it because they can sleep better and it is a good excuse not to do so much work as it isn't light enough. So as with all things isn't it good it isn't in our hands to change things. The colors are still pretty in places but a lot of the leaves have fallen off and these leaves can be slippery so we should keep this in mind when driving.

Was very much pleased Wednesday to have my sister, Marion, and husband, Ben Tucker of Norway, drop in. They had been to Upton, 13 Mile Woods, and were heading for home. When our children were all small (we each had five) we had good times together, and noisy. There was only one girl in all. Seems different not having to go see what is going on. If they were too quiet, wondering what was going on. If they were noisy we wondered who was teasing who.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hannan and girls had from Friday to Sunday, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hannan of Durham, N.H., as guests.

Monday, Elaine Hutchins, Shilo and Misty Hutchins, Sally Hannan, Mary Beth and Amy Hannan went to Cathedral Ledge in North Conway, N.H.

Frank and Sid Murphy had as visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Borowski and daughter, Melissa, of Dunellen, N.J.

Kristy Angevine had Dustin Benjamin born Oct. 11 weighing in at 8 lbs. 5 oz., 20 inches long. Grandparents, Dick and Sue Angevine, and great-grandparents, Ernest and Alberta Angevine.

Notice I left out as attending Chukie Massey's wedding her brother, Chukie, Kathy and three children. Kathy gave me the names of who was there and I just never got their names down. Sorry

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lawther of Lexington, Mass., have been visiting Mrs. Ruth Dorian recently.

Bethel Senior Citizens joining the Rumford Seniors on a bus foliage tour up to The Balsams on Oct. 16 were Betty Blake, Doris Fraser, Annie Kimball, Julia Brown, Martha Von Zinti, and Betty Perkins. Part of the tour was a 13 mile trip through the woods to view the foliage with dinner at The Balsams. According to Julia Brown the food was "out of this world."

Several bridge players from Bethel joined the Ogunquit Ladies at the Whistling Oyster in Perkins Cove for cards on Thursday, Oct. 17. Seven tables were in play. The only one from Bethel to receive a prize was Cynthia Gotjen. The following traveled down Wednesday and stayed at the Norseman Motor Inn, with Barb and Carl Merrill as hosts: Pat Bennett, Rita Davis, Barb Douglass, Barb Lucas, Evelene Kimball, Margaret Trivard, Connie Thurston, and Norma Jodrey, all of Bethel; and Lucia Wilson of Shelburne, N.H. On Thursday the group joined by Carolyn Brooks and Cynthia Gotjen. Great time.

If you look closely, there are three new staff members at the Casco Bank. They are temporary "floaters" and will be gone after Halloween.

Jaime is sporting a new trim on her bangs, courtesy of Cherie Beauty Salon. A slightly belated "Welcome to Bethel" to the Sylvain family, Yvon, Francine, Isabelle and Richard.

Interesting Sign of the Week Award goes to some folks in Gorham, N.H. "Welcome Leaf Lookers" was what the sign read as we drove past on our way shopping last weekend.

Wiscrack of the Week Award goes to a certain young man named Tom who almost caught me off guard at Rich's this past weekend. I was minding my own business while looking at the Halloween goodies and I commented to my father, or so I thought (he was nowhere near me when I spoke to him, so it looked like I was talking to myself...), "I wanted a witch's face, but they didn't have one." Said Tom, "I think the one you have is fine." "Cute, Tom, that was really a good one. How'd you like me to pull that beard right off your chin? Next time I go into a store I'm going to look around to see if there is anyone I know lurking about."

Ever broil a meatloaf? I did. I broiled the pan, too. Funny, my smoke detector never made a beep. I think I'd better change the battery.

Well, folks, I've finally done it. Ole Mom is leaving home and joining the outside world. I found a full time job and my first day will be the day this column appears. I talked to Jaime about mommy going to work and how she'll be going to play with some kids. She listened intently with huge brown eyes and a serious expression.

By LOUISE LORING

The special days of sitting on the front porch are gone until next year. Enthroned in rockers on our porch, my husband, I, and our guests enjoyed a spectacular season. No other part of the house has so much charm and comfort. Plants and ivies grew profusely, as they breathed the fresh air of the season; and as the town stirred to life in early dawn, from here we watched the birds bathe, and the outside world consisted only of the greens of Mother Nature. As the community was still at dusk, the crickets chirped and the moon rose over the mountain. In between times when the afternoon shades crept around, and the cool breezes stirred and rustled all the growing things, sipping a lemonade with a neighbor, or dozing on the chaise longue, time passed leisurely and contentedly there.

Now the old rockers and plants have all come inside, the chaise longue returned to the livingroom, the lawn chairs stowed away. Stored there instead are sacks of apples, tomatoes (green) and pink and white potatoes waiting to be trundled off to their winter storage places. In one corner, lies a carton of old paper grocery bags (never know when you might need one), several gallons of water (in case the well goes dry), and a varied assortment of string, bird seed, pression. When I asked her what she thought, she smiled and said, "Bye, bye, Mommy." Nice kid, so much for the guilt feelings.

Male Chauvinism Rears its Ugly Head in Bethel... I could see that headline very clearly when I made my announcement to a certain person, who shall remain anonymous. His comment? "Your place is in the home, you can't go to work!" It's a good thing I'm not going to disclose his identity. I wouldn't want him to be accused some night by a band of outraged feminists. Besides, I know he was kidding. His wife has been working since their child was just a tiny little baby and I'm sure she has duly chastized her husband for such an outrageous comment! So, all you people out there (?), since I don't have an answering service, you'll just have to call me in the evening. Now that I'm going to be a working mother, give me a break and call me with your news. I'm going to need all the help I can get.

old boots and empty insect repellent cans of the spray variety. One of these days all these things will go into hiding too, the plastic vinyl screens will be attached, and the wood (about three cords of it) will be tied there on the veranda and waiting for the north wind to howl. (No running into the snow outside for us or up and down cellar stairs either.) The sun will shine through and at mid-day we can open the doors, catching some free solar heat for ourselves in the house.

But somehow, I will be glad when I can sit there again in my old rocking chair, watch the bees buzz in the roses and listen to the fireflies dance and play in the evening.

Fabian Corriveau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Corriveau, spent three or four days at the Central Maine Medical Center, Lewiston. Young Fabian went through a three hour surgery there, where a hole in his ear drum was repaired.

Beverly Corriveau celebrated her birthday recently. Her daughter-in-law, Sally presented her with a special cake, as did Lorraine Herrick of West Bethel.

The Gilead Women's Club held a stitchery meeting at the home of Georgie MacArthur recently. It was announced that a special meeting will be held Oct. 30 to start planning for the Thanksgiving activities.

The annual Halloween party for the Gilead children will be held at the old Town Hall on Oct. 31, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Attention: A Missing Kitty Bulletin—A female grey tiger kitty, belonging to Holly Corriveau, has left home. When last seen Mittens was wearing grey and black striped coat of fur, a white shirt front under her chin and chest, and of course four little white mittens. Mr. Felina is a little over a year old and was sighted awhile back by the Gilead bridge. It is not known if Mittens has been abducted, held hostage, or has eloped and is enjoying a rather prolonged honeymoon at a rustic lodge hereabouts. Anyone having any information regarding this particular wayward feline is asked to call 836-2032 and ask for Bev or Holly. If you're out there, Mittens, please come home. We need you.

Tests show a stop lamp mounted in the rear window inside the car improves visibility and thus safety. These add-on lights can be easily installed.

To clean around emblems and grille trim on your car, use a soft old toothbrush.

If your car is hard to steer on a bumpy road, you may be ready for new shock absorbers. Have 'em checked.

Remember these rules for jumping a battery: positive clamp goes from the positive terminal of the dead battery to the starting one; negative clamp goes from the negative terminal of the starting battery to the engine block of the dead one. Remove clamps in reverse order.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

Everyone and his brother had a good time at supper and the Parisians' dance, even Charles "Doc" Hall who sold his blue dancing slippers. I hope his wife stepped on his toes while he danced in his stocking feet. He was lucky to be able to buy them back. He may need them before spring comes.

On Sunday there was a big birthday bash at "Big Rock" farm to celebrate the birthdays of "Root" Lawrence, Herman Card, Carroll Record and Joe Kalinowski. A New England boiled dinner and home made ice cream were served. Other guests were Doris Lawrence, Thelma Card, Mione Record, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr. and Stanley Ukulele. Joe Kalinowski was the host.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Spencer and three children of Tyngsboro, Mass., spent the holiday weekend at the Relyd trailer and went to the supper at West Sumner.

Earl Cordwell returned home from Norway hospital by ambulance Wednesday. He recently had another operation to remove the hip joint or socket, as he still had problems after the leg amputation near the hip. He has a strong constitution.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bean Sr. spent the long weekend at Moosehead Lake, and the lake was very rough. No birds.

Herbert Stevens fell off the ladder Saturday and it shook him up a bit but no broken bones. He is on vacation this week.

Pvt. Scott Ilsley who is stationed in North Carolina has been visiting his parents for one week. He is on crutches due to a broken leg. He likes to fight.

It's been ball games and ball games. Joe and Eveline have watched a ball game every day all summer long. When the World Series is over, they will have to go dancing with Joe Kalinowski. They were betting on Toronto. Maybe next year they will be the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Pinkham, Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Alice Goff, Mexico, and Doris Lawrence had dinner with the Vachers Wednesday. The Pinkhams have been visiting their relatives and many Maine friends for a week. They returned to their home Oct. 21.

Callers at Lawrences: Odell Heath, Arnold Coffin, Joe Kalinowski, Sherry Millett, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Record, Stanley Ukulele, Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Pinkham of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Alice Goff, Rumford.

All roads will lead to North Paris on Oct. 26 for the ham supper at 5 p.m.

The Mothers Club met Monday evening, Oct. 14, at the Swan Club Room, with Nancy Wight presiding. Gilberte Seeley gave the opening prayer. Secretary Peggy Wight read the minutes of the last meeting and the correspondence. June Swan, treasurer, brought the finances up to date. Get well cards were passed and signed for Olive Anderson, who broke her ankle, and Rae Bartholomew, who is recuperating from surgery. Members were asked to participate in the program of correspondence and visitation of the Hospital Chaplain, Inc. This is a world wide service, which would make some patients, who do not receive mail or have visitors, very happy. The address is Hospital Chaplain Service, Inc., RFD 1 Box 1548, Hampton Highlands, Maine 04445. A word game, led by Louise Tetley, was played. Members were reminded to turn in the shirts and other articles made for nursing homes. It was voted to start a weight control group, to be led by Cynthia Moxcey, and held at the town office Tuesday evenings at 7:30. Refreshments were served by Louise Tetley and Gilberte Seeley. The next meeting will be Nov. 11 at the club room with Eleanor Davis, Nancy Wight and Helen Morton on the refreshment committee.

June Swan, Gilberte Seeley, Louise Tetley, Eleanor Davis, Betsy Clark, Thelma Lowery, Beatrice Lowell, Eleanor Morton were in Rumford bowling Oct. 16. Rena Powers and Christine Lagesse were guests. Louise Tetley was high scorer.

Olive Anderson and Arthur Gauthier both returned home from the hospital Oct. 16.

Aaron Osgood and Mandy Berry are attending Mrs. Kellogg's nursery school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wight, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Berry, Jason and Mandy, attended a birthday party for Danielle Littlehale, Bryant Pond, Wednesday evening, Oct. 16. Danielle was six years old. Other guests attending besides the honored guest and hosts were Staci Littlehale, Bryant Pond; Michael Wight, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Wight, Katie and Kurt, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Fleet, Bethel. Terri Littlehale made a Donald Duck cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Scott and guests, Chester, N.J., spent a few days at their place here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Lomastro Sr., North Scituate, R.I., visited Mary Tripp and others in the area recently.

THE MAINE FOREST PRODUCTS COUNCIL hosted about 60 guests, including a number of state legislators, on a tour of timber operations in the Bethel area recently. Council President Bob Chadbourne (on bed of pickup) welcomed the tour participants in the P.H. Chadbourne yard.

AT P.H. CHADBOURNE, tour participants got a look at whole tree processing. The Hahn Harvester, above, manufactured in Minnesota, delimbs the tree and cuts it into pulpwood or sawlogs.

that sawlogs and pulpwood can grow faster. Responding to a question about the soundness of the program, Mr. Saviello said, "All we're trying to do is speed that (natural regeneration) up."

Forester Howard Charles explained the work of a modern forester. "Like a hog farmer says he breeds hogs: he doesn't—he just arranges 'em. That's what I do—I just arrange the trees."

He had recently arranged the trees on 30 acres of Warren Hastings' 240-acre woodlot in Hanover, having Ken Poland thin out the smaller trees to let more light into the lot. Owner Hastings commented, "I do like the looks of an area that's been thinned out like this."

Clark Bartlett, who, together with his wife Neda, works 700 acres of timber off

Rte. 232, pointed out to the legislators that state laws keep his operation a strictly family operation. "Up to last year I used to have one full-time man," he told them, "but workmen's comp put the kibosh on that." Working by himself, he got 150,000 board feet of sawlogs out of his woods last year, plus 350 cords of hardwood, firewood and pulpwood.

Leon Favreau, owner of Bethel Furniture Stock, complained to the legislators about foreign imports of furniture and about impending Forest Service restrictions on timber harvesting in the White Mountain National Forest.

Of the former he said, "Our biggest competitor is the country of Yugoslavia." He said low wages there permit the manufacture of furniture that undersells the furniture made in North Carolina using seat blanks made in his mill.

On the latter problem, he said the restrictive harvest in the White Mountain National Forest will adversely affect the supply of logs to his sawmill. He said he foresees what the Forest Service was going to do, he wouldn't have built his new sawmill last year.

State agency officials told the legislators their agencies needed more money for such things as fighting forest fires and combating white pine blister rust.

Probably the harshest comments of the day were reserved for the new wood measurement law, passed last spring. Under the new law, buyers of logs and pulpwood have to calculate the purchase price on the gross scale of the log, as opposed to net scale, which had been the prevailing system.

Contractors and mill owners argued that gross scale forces them to reject whole truckloads of logs because there is no way to pay for just the usable portion of a half-ruined shipment.

"Do you think we fixed something that wasn't broken?" State Sen. Charles Webster, of Farmington, asked rhetorically. The resounding answer was

"yes."

The Maine Forest Products Council was organized in 1960 and is a statewide association of the various interests that comprise Maine's forest products community.

There are 17.6 million acres of forest in Maine, covering 89 percent of the land area. Maine is the most heavily forested state in the country.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the relatives and friends of the young Deans family who perished in the tragic fire. Mrs. Rex Thurston and sons, Danny, Jon and Kurt, and her mother, Mrs. Walter Jodrey, spent the weekend in Manchester, N.H., visiting Mrs. Francis Humphrey and girls, Melissa and Meghan.

Sympathy of the townspeople is extended to Mrs. James Goodwin and family in their loss.

Grades two, three and four of the Andover Elementary School went on a field trip to the Colonial Orchards in West Paris on Wednesday. The children and the adults enjoyed watching the apple pickers at work. Those going besides the pupils were teachers, Mrs. Meisner, Miss Stuart and Mrs. Morgan. Helpers were Mrs. Joan Palmer, Mrs. Merilee Thurston, Mrs. Betty Misereochi and Mrs. Mary Learned.

On Wednesday afternoon Andover Elementary soccer team had a game against Woodstock's soccer team. Andover won. This is their second game and second win. Congratulations and keep up the good work.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meisner spent several days recently on a bus tour to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Williams and son of "Log Cabin" in East Andover.

Many from town attended the Rumford Community Hospital Fair on Thursday. Mrs. Marion Holmes and Mrs. Pauline Virgin of Bath called on Mrs. Mary Thurston one afternoon this week.

Rev. Donald Grover's message last Sunday was "The Conversion of a Eunuch" from Acts 8:26-40. Meditation was Matthew 21:33. "Son, go work today in my vineyard." Responsive Reading was from Isaiah 53. Special music by Rosemary Roberts and Alice Cox: "Beyond the Sunset." Missionary Moments, a letter read from Hospital Chaplaincy Service which teaches and distributes Gospel tracts and literature in nursing homes throughout the state.

This mission cares about older people who are out of the main stream of life with an expression of love. The church financially supports this group. The Sunday evening service was entitled "Joseph, the Hated" from Genesis 37.

Mr. and Mrs. Abdul Taish and family spent the long holiday with her parents, the Nelsons.

John Files of Hartford, Conn., spent the holiday at the Files' camp on Lake Keewaydin.

Mrs. Linda Allen of North Waterford and Mrs. Eva Fox of Lovell visited me Saturday. Iva brought me a lovely plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jewel have been doing some work for Gladys Plummer and also for me.

Mrs. Frances Grant went to Norway Friday. She is most helpful to a few of us shut-ins on doing errands for us.

A beaver dam had to be disposed of near me, as the water was backing up in the fields and a few cellars. I felt so sorry for the little animals that work so hard. I hope those awful cruel traps that people set don't get them.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson of Cranberry Island have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson for a few days and attended the Fryeburg Fair with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino and two friends from Melrose, Mass., came to their summer home for the weekend and all attended the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Massey of Kennebunk visited Mr. Grace Nelson Saturday.

Everyone from around here attended the fair at Fryeburg Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Daddum and family of Damariscotta were visitors at their home here for a few days.

Mrs. Grace Nelson went to Bridgton Tuesday for an eye test. She visited Mrs. Eula Trimback at North Waterford on her way home.

Mrs. Edith Holt of North Waterford visited friends here Monday.

The Junata Past Chiefs Club met for its regular meeting Oct. 8 at the home of Phyllis Millett with nine members present. All assembled to partake of a chicken dinner with all the special additions which Phyllis so ably prepares. Birthday cakes this month were to Inez Barker from Phyllis Millett and to Hildred Safford from Edith Rolfe. They were served with ice cream. A business meeting followed the dinner, at which it was voted to send $20 to Pineland for use at Christmas. The November meeting will be held at the home of Minerva Dudley.

Hannah F. Richardson Tent, DUV, will hold annual inspection jointly with Judith Grover Tent of Bryant Pond and Elizabeth Blake Crockett Tent of Norway Wednesday, Oct. 23. Supper will be served at 6:30 at the East Stoneham church vestry and the meeting will follow at the KP hall. Edith Pulkkinen of the Norway Tent will be inspecting officer.

On Thursday, they took Georgie Fraser to Rumford for a doctor's appointment. Mrs. Mary Thurston took her mother, Mrs. Bernice Glover to Bethel on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Vannah were in Togus on Thursday.

Reminder: The Old Time Dance will be Saturday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall, to benefit the Greenwood Historical Society.

The Ladies Circle met Wednesday with 17 members present. They discussed the winter sale scheduled for Nov. 15. There will be a dinner with baked beans, chop suey, rolls, salads and pies. White elephant, crafts, food and grab bags tables will be available as usual.

Mary Mills came Monday afternoon for a visit with her brother, John Mills and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Mills went and got her and they stopped in to visit a brother, Donald and wife Marilyn at Norway. On the return trip to her home at Autumn Years, Bolsters Mills, they stopped to see Mr. and Mrs. Earl Colby and boys in West Greenwood.

Eleanor DeNormandie had a birthday Tuesday and celebrated it with a supper. Those present were Robert DeNormandie, granddaughters, Janelle and Jessica, Mr. and Mrs. Art Wiesner, Grace Day and Charlotte Cole. Jim DeNormandie and friend came in afterwards for a visit.

Charlotte Cole helped Vera Cross clean her pigeon pens Friday.

Mrs. Marcia Smith, Dryden, came Friday afternoon to spend the night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills. She attended the mother-daughter banquet with her mother at the Gospel Center and then attended a housewares party at the home of Vivian Chase in Bethel.

Olga Morgan celebrated a birthday with a supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeNormandie Thursday evening. Charlotte Cole was also invited and JoAnne Cole came in later for coffee.

John Mills was one of those initiated into the American Legion Sunday afternoon.

Sunday, Charlotte Cole entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole and Vera Cross at dinner. Then they all went to Portland and visited Iva Smith, a former Greenwood school teacher.

Reminder: Greenwood residents who want their chimneys cleaned by the Fire Department, please get in touch with the men soon. Cleaning will be done this month.

Monday Vera Cross and Charlotte Cole visited Mr. and Mrs. Erland Scribner in Albany and played cards.

Jackson-Silver Post will hold a flag burning ceremony Sunday, Oct. 27, at the American Legion Hall. Anyone having flags which need to be disposed of, may get in touch with Leland Dunham by Saturday, Oct. 26, and the flags will be picked up.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

At the height of color, October 12, we rode over the less-needed common little country road in the afternoon. There was no traffic to bother us and we enjoyed the whole drive.

A Country Road
We took a winding back road, There were memories all the way. Many things were links that bound Today with yesterday.

The road wound through a forest, Its sides were colored trees Making shadows, on stone walls, While swaying in the breeze.

This little road had meandered far, Had passed a woodland stream, Flowing from blue-black mountains Beneath October's bright gleam.

We rode with autumn splendor, Shimmering sunbeams of yellow and wine, On the hard earthen ribbon Snuggling among the pine.

Seasons pass with special signs, Bring memories to us all. But traveling over a country road, It's a serene and carefree way Nothing is quite so enthralling

As traveling over a country road When mid October comes a-calling. —C.C.M.

I went over my book "Trails Remembered" today and "walked again" such places as Rocky Dundee, Whittle Hill, Forest Rock, Eyebrow Trail, Caribou Trail, and 50 more, with my hiking pals.

It's a book that could never be replaced. It holds the joy of yesterday that can be found in the memory of today. At this time of year I think often of the many hours on the trails and the mountains climbed.

We had our first Tuesday Club at Katie Tamminen's on Oct. 15.

Our callers have been Rudy and Barbara Honkala of Virginia; Sally Holt, Dexter; Olive Davis, Woodstock; Dorothy Ross, Beryl Bonney, West Paris. Fay Holt was ill last week, but is better now.

On Sunday there were several at the Holt farm: Ann Holt, Bethel; Nancy Hutton, Cape Elizabeth; Robert and Jeri Holt and children, Danny, Ricky, Jennie of Windsor; and Sally Holt.

Rena Curtis was in Mexico to see her daughter, Evelyn, recently and in Buckfield at her son, Albert's. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Strait and family, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cogswell and son, Freeport, were there for the weekend.

Esther Davis and her guest, Edith Hodges of Florida, invited Vera Buck, Barbara Cash and Olive Davis to take a trip around the mountains Wednesday.

JACKSON-SILVER POST & UNIT

The annual membership supper of the Jackson-Silver Post and Unit #68 of Locke Mills, Oct. 17, was a real success. Halloween decorations were used, and the American Legion emblem china brought many a compliment. Commander Andrew Bartlett and President Kathy Bartlett introduced the special guests from the head table.

They were: Dept. Commander George Gagnon of Millinocket; State Vice Commander Joe Bartos, Lisbon Center; Second District President, Kathleen Koss, Auburn; Dept. Americanism Chairman, Jeri Brooks, and Carolyn Brooks, member of the Blind Camp Committee, both of Bethel; County Commander Charlie Mason; World War I veteran Alanson Cummings, and Past State President Fannie Cummings. The Past County Commanders were recognized also. Among the other guests were Lionel Koss, Dana Brooks, and Bernice Swan.

At the meetings that followed, Leland Dunham was presented the Adjutants Plaque that was on his office door for years. He had served in that capacity for 20 years.

The men voted $100 for a worth comrades who needs friendly compassion at this time.

Oct. 27, the Oxford County flag burning ceremony will be at the hall at 2 p.m. Public is invited.

Nov. 4 and 8, the juniors are presenting their "History of the American Flag" at Bryant Pond and Telstar.

The joint initiation, Sunday, Oct. 13, was with Commander Andrew Bartlett and President Kathy Bartlett as the initiation officers. The men's team consisted of First Vice, Earl Colby; Second Vice, Leland Dunham; Past Commander, Raymond Swan; Sgt.-at-Arms, Leroy Patten; Adjutant, Cleve Lovejoy; and Alanson Cummings, Chaplain.

The women assisting President Kathy Bartlett were Cathryn Lovejoy, Sylvia Dunham and Fannie Cummings as chaplain.

Taking the degree were John Mills, Carl Curtis, Kovi George, Herb Lyon, Charles Mason, and Pat DiArenzo, Irene Redman, Kelly Bartlett, Mary Lyon, Olive Risko, Shelly Swan, Jenni and Julie Whitman, Lois George, Trina Halacy, Michelle Cummings, Fern Merrill, Alanson and Brandy Russo.

More than the guests were Iona L. Osnde, chaplain of Topsham Post #202. She has been a hard worker for this organization for many years.

Past State Commander John Howe of Southwest Harbor was able to be present.

At the piano were Mary Lyon and Cleve Lovejoy.

Notes from Woodstock Historical Society

The Standard or Standard Storyteller was a newspaper printed by the Chase family in Bryant Pond for many years. Most of its articles are lifted from other sources and vary in quality, but in the ads one may trace the history of businesses in the area. Let us take just one issue as typical, that of January 1890.

The title story is called "My Wife's Nose." It tells how a husband loves his wife dearly except for the fact that she has a very large nose, supersensitive to strong odors. About four pages of the paper are devoted to telling about the troubles this gets the couple into. Then there is an article on farming, another on logging, a tale of adventure in the Argentine Republic and several short anecdotes.

The ads are really more interesting and exotic. There is one for the Glenn Mountain House, situated near the railroad and a fine mineral spring. I.W. Andrews, the local undertaker, stressed the low cost of his caskets and embalming. Cushman's Livery Stable and A.L. Rowe care for the farmer. M.M. Hathaway's Cash Store offers "fine clothing," F.M. Cole deals in stoves. An optician, a dentist, and a watch repairer from South Paris, all have ads as do businesses in Locke Mills and West Paris. But most provocative of the ads are for patent medicines. A certain "worm elixir" relieved a patient of a 69 foot tapeworm. A "conditioning powder" makes hens lay and "cures all their diseases." Another medicine, a pain killer, cures toothaches, colds and chills, and cramps and colic, for only 50 cents. You can also purchase for 35 cents a cough syrup known for its beauty and potency, its safe character and palatableness. "It is used only by 'refined people,' and it is 'elegant and useful.'"

Such was the tone of Woodstock's tabloid of bygone years, at one ordinary and intriguing, predictable but occasionally spicy.

The following committees have been appointed for the coming year by President Paul Billings: Clerk, Eva B. Twitcheil; Publicity, Larry Billings; Building Committee, Ray Burnham, Spike Noyes, Ralph Hoyt, Roland Lord; Entertainment Committee, Mary Billings, Annela Burnham; Finance Committee, Esther Davis, Joyce Hoyt, Eva B. Twitcheil, Alice Hoyt; Refreshment Committee, Alice Hoyt, Annie Crockett, Verna Swan, Elena Noyes; Research Committee, Ruby Emery, Dr. Chase, Eva B. Twitcheil; mystery package, Ruth Cox.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Anyone interested in attending the conference on rural improvement and reform being held on Oct. 25, 26 and 27 at the Bethel Inn should call the Bethel Historical Society (824-2908) for further information. Organized by the Brick Store Museum in Kennebunk and hosted by the Bethel Historical Society with funding by the Maine Humanities Council, the conference is planned to complement and respond to the traveling exhibition, "A Good Stand of Buildings" which is now in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House and will continue there until Jan. 25, 1986. Scholars from several colleges and universities from the northeastern United States will present papers and lead discussions on topics relating to the thesis of improvement and reform of the 18th century Maine farm. They will cover such topics and themes as the changing New England landscape, architectural reform, pastoralism, technology, literary reform, popular literature, and domestic reform.

Events will begin on Friday evening with a wine and cheese reception at the Moses Mason House from 5 to 6 p.m., followed by a country supper served by Pleasant Valley Grange in West Bethel. Speaker for the evening will be Jere Danielle of Dartmouth College who will speak on the topic: "Post Civil War Maine: Degenerate or Regenerate." Most of the conference activities will take place on Saturday at the Bethel Inn beginning at 8 a.m. with registration and ending with a presentation by the Bethel Historical Society Director Stanley Howe on Dr. N.T. True (1812-1887) of Bethel as rural reformer. On Sunday morning Thomas Hubka, author of "Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn: The Connected Buildings of New England" and Bethel Historical Society Director Stanley Howe will lead a tour of three farms in East Bethel followed by a picnic lunch at Alder River Grange.

Speakers and discussion leaders on Saturday at the Bethel Inn will include Leo Marx of the Department of Science, Technology and Society at MIT and author of "The Machine in the Garden" (keynote speaker); Richard Candee, Department of American Studies, Boston University; Charles E. Clark, Department of History, Amherst College; Bernard L. Herman, Department of Urban Affairs, University of Delaware; Sally McMurray, Department of History, Pennsylvania State University; Earle Shettleworth, Jr., Director, Maine Historical Preservation Commission; Marcie Cohen, conference coordinator, American Studies Coordinator; David C. Smith, Department of History, University of Maine at Orono; Robert St. George, Department of American Studies, Boston University; Laurel Thatcher Ulrich, Department of History, University of New Hampshire.

During the week of Oct. 7 all sophomores were given the SRA achievement series. The faculty and administration look forward to reviewing the results of these tests this fall when they work on curriculum and planning for the upcoming year.

USED EYEGLASSES AND HEARING AIDS NEEDED: The Bethel Lions Club has set aside the month of November for a used eyeglass and hearing aid collection drive. All types of glasses and parts of glasses are urgently needed—lenses, frames and even prescription sunglasses can be used. The recipient organizations will polish and grind them, catalog the glasses according to their prescription (which is determined with the aid of a machine called a lensometer) and file them until needed by patients after eye examinations at Lions free clinics or eye camps throughout the world. All eyeglasses are distributed to these needy patients free of charge. The same is true of used hearing aids which are also catalogued until needed and distributed free of charge.

This is one of the major service projects sponsored by the Lions Club. The club would like to take this opportunity to thank those individuals who have been supporting their year-round collection of eyeglasses and hearing aids and who have made donations in the past. Collection boxes have been placed in various locations in the Bethel-West Bethel area for your convenience. Any and all donations will be greatly appreciated and properly distributed to the appropriate agencies. Included below is a listing of locations where collection boxes can be found: the Bethel Post Office, Main St.; Dr. Leonard Shaw's Office, Main St.; and Mountain View Store, West Bethel.

MOLLOCKETT MIXERS: The Mollockett Mixers Square Dance Club will hold a square dance on Saturday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m., at the elementary school formerly the middle school on Lincoln Ave., Rumford, just above the armory. This is a Mainstream and Quarterly Selection Dance, caller Michael Johnston and cuer for Round Dancing is Wally Weeks. Note change of location of this dance. Look for red and white M&M signs.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF AIR EMISSION LICENSE APPLICATION: Please take notice that Ekko Wood Products Co., Locke Mills, Me., is filing for an Air Emission License with the Maine Department of Environmental Protection pursuant to the provisions of 38 M.R.S.A., Section 590. According to Department Regulations interested parties must be publicly notified, written comments invited, and if justified, an opportunity for public hearing given.

The application is for license renewal at Locke Mills. The application and supporting documents may be seen at the Bureau of Air Quality control of DEP offices in Augusta during normal working hours. A copy of the application may also be seen at the municipal office of the town in which the facility is located. Comments will be received by the DEP for a 30 day period from the date of this advertisement. Communications should be addressed to Dave Dumas at the Bureau of Air Quality Control, Department of Environmental Protection, Station 17, Augusta, Maine 04333. The telephone is (207) 289-2437. 43

FURNITURE-MAKER BOB GROVER chats with a visitor in front of a hand-crafted chair he made. Mr. Grover, along with local artisans Garrett and Melody Bonnema (pottery), Marcel Polak (pottery) and Paul Beaton (wrought iron), are the focus of an exhibit of the work of local artisans at the Owen Art Gallery at Gould Academy. The exhibit opened last Friday night and will continue until Nov. 26.

Notes from the Lions den

Mr. Hart administered the PSAT/NMSQT to 31 college bound sophomores and juniors on Saturday, Oct. 19. Nearly 1.5 million students across the country take this test in order to familiarize themselves with the testing format used on the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Two Self-Group classes are being held weekly. Student leaders Martha Bell and Sue Fraser, under Mr. Hart's direction are currently making plans to invite community speakers.

Juniors and Seniors are encouraged to sign up for the UMO Engineering Career Exploration Seminar at Boise Cascade. The deadline for applying is Friday, Oct. 25—this is a very beneficial program for anyone considering a career in engineering.

The Guidance Office is also providing an opportunity for Juniors and Seniors to attend a special Psychology Seminar at the University of Maine at Farmington. The deadline for registering is Oct. 25. For more information, Please see Mr. Hart.

The following college and military representatives are scheduled to visit Telstar this month: Air Force (Oct. 25, 8:30); Army (Oct. 24, 10:00); Thomas College (Oct. 24, 12:30); Andover College (Oct. 29, 12:30); SMVTI, Oct. 28, 12:30; Dean Junior College, Nov. 1, 9:00.

During the week of Oct. 7 all sophomores were given the SRA achievement series. The faculty and administration look forward to reviewing the results of these tests this fall when they work on curriculum and planning for the upcoming year.

CARD OF THANKS: Our sincere thanks to all our friends and co-workers who expressed their sympathy with cards, money, food brought in and so many other kindnesses during our bereavement. Your thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated. Berta Olson and family

FOUR NAMED AS TELSTAR STUDENTS-OF-THE-MONTH

The following four students have been chosen as Telstar Regional High School students-of-the-month for September in their respective classes.

Freshman: Thaddeus Wheeler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger A. Wheeler, of Newry, was nominated in his French I class for being well-prepared for class, spending the required time on his homework, which becomes evident in his "pointed questions" and excellent accent and pronunciation.

Sophomore: Patricia Patten, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patten, of Greenwood, was nominated in her sophomore CP-2 English class for having the highest average in her class. Her instructor looks on this as quite an achievement since Patricia is new to this instructor's courses while her other classmates had at least a taste of what was expected from this instructor. She has tried very hard to overcome this disadvantage by paying attention in class and always completing the assignments.

Junior: Veronica Melville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Melville, of Locke Mills, was nominated by her General Chemistry instructor for maintaining an A+ average in the class and also for being the only student to receive a 100 on a recent quiz.

Senior: Sarah Buckman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Buckman, of Bethel, was given an extensive recommendation by her foreign language instructor. This year Sarah has taken it upon herself to add two independent study language classes to her already demanding academic schedule. These two classes, French 4 and German 3, both advanced courses in themselves, involve meeting with her instructor twice a week after school for up to two hours each session. Sarah's instructor also describes her as "always eager to learn new things" and a dedicated student. He states that he feels fortunate to have a student like Sarah in his classes.

Honorable mention for September goes to freshman Stanley Moore (VP English) and Maria Bower (Spanish I); sophomore Karen Morton (French II), Delwin Wilson (Latin II), and Jason Adams (Latin II); juniors Corey Vail (CP-2 English), Gori Bollo (French III), and Eric Hoyt (Spanish III aide); seniors Rick Bodwell (A.P. English) and Michelle Bennett (VP English).

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town has planned a demonstration of home emergencies as part of the adult education parenting course. The demonstration, which is open to the public, will be Thursday night at 7 p.m. at the Woodstock Elementary School. Organizer Dorene Benson has planned to keep the session full of practical ideas, useful for anyone, especially parents, in the home.

The community birthday calendars have arrived. Any ordered will be distributed shortly. Thanks for the support.

The Thanksgiving basket fund-raiser is going well. It will be given away Nov. 26 at Penley's Corporation in West Paris.

Tri-Town Search and Rescue is planning to conduct a night hasty search practice Nov. 3. Flashlights are important. New members are always welcome.

Safety Tip of the Week

Halloween is just around the corner. It used to be a fun and safe holiday for children. And it still can be with supervision and support.

For parents, planning of safe costumes is important. Face painting is safer than masks which limit the child's visibility. Light reflective clothing is important if the child will trick or treat in the dark. Many start visiting homes in the afternoon, limiting the night hours outside.

Another development has been the community Halloween party for school children. The child gets to have all the fun of dressing up, without the danger of roaming the streets at night and getting food that may be unsafe.

Let's all work towards making this Halloween a fun one for the children—and safety is the bottom line.

Challenge '85

It is still not too late to pledge to the Bethel Area Health Center building fund. The indicator on the thermometer at the Center has almost reached the top. Carolyn Holden, chairperson of the fund-raising committee, reports that to date $96,689 has been pledged for the Center's building and service expansion.

The fund-raiser has truly been a grass roots effort in the community. The enthusiasm has been contagious and all donations large and small have shown that the community is ready for a new facility.

Those who have become part of the effort this week are: Alfred and Faith Brown; Emily C. Saunders; Bethel Senior Citizens; "Sunday River Skiway," Leslie Otten and family; "Chapman Inn," Doug and Robin Zinchuk; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Lord; Lew-Var Inc.; "The Only Place Restaurant"; Julia B. Brown; Robert and Phyllis Coolidge; Doris Fraser; Jay and Nancy Davis; Donald and Ruth Feeney; Winifred Scott; and the Putnam family. There's $1,931 to go. Let's reach the goal by the Nov. 16 dance.

As a grand finale, the fund-raising committee is holding a "Thanks for Giving" Dance on Nov. 16 at the Locke Mills Legion Hall featuring Ted White and his country western band. Tickets will be $5 each to cover the expenses. It will be a byob affair and will run from 8 p.m.-12 midnight. Snacks will be on sale at the dance and door prizes will be awarded. Come and join the fun!!!!

TAP COMMUNITY COOKBOOK HAS ARRIVED

Last spring parents volunteers DeJ Patterson, Vicki Myers, Marguerite Graham and Jean Bass led by Karen Paul and Vicki Rackliffe, collected recipes from teachers, parents, students and friends of the Ethel Bisbee and Crescent Park schools in order to publish a cookbook as a fund raising project for TAP. Nearly 300 recipes were collected and over 70 seventy businesses showed the support by purchasing advertising from the committee.

Now the final product is ready for your approval. Most of the teachers and administrators have passed on their favorite recipes for you to enjoy and there are many recipes from friends in Bethel who won't want to miss: spinach almond roulade from the Sudbury Inn; Roger Hanscom's chicken-turkey casserole; Nick's pancakes from Sunday River Inn; blueberry pancakes from the Chapman Inn; or for international flavor, Swedish meatballs—Svenska kottbullar—from Ki Clough or oriental marinade from Althea Stevens. Whatever your fancy the cookbook has it all and if you are really stuck for something to experiment with, try the last section, "Kid's Recipes" from the 1984-85 1st grade.

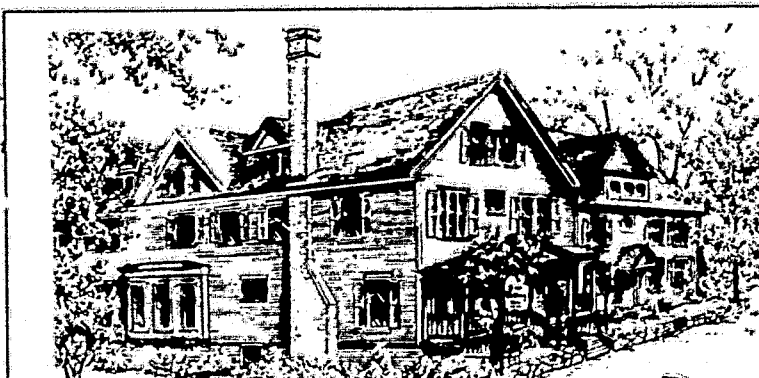

Cookbooks are for sale at the #1 Video in Bethel and they may also be purchased directly from any member of the cookbook committee. The price is $4.75 and all proceeds are to go directly to TAP to be used by the elementary schools. A great Christmas gift.

The cookbook committee would like to thank all of you who have supported this project. It is your cookbook—enjoy.

FOOT CARE CLINIC
The foot care clinic is still being held at Bethel House on Friday mornings. The clinic will offer nursing care such as soaking, cleaning, clipping nails, massaging, evaluating and assessing condition of feet. The price is $7 per visit and appointments can be made by calling Muriel Whitney at 824-2193. Clients are welcome to bring their own basins for the foot soak if they have them—if not, they will be available for $3 each from the Health Center personnel at the clinic location. Blood pressure screenings are available as a free service at the same time. Location of the clinic will be at the Bethel House on Main Street in Bethel.

Telstar booters finish season with 1-13 record

It was not an easy autumn for the Telstar soccer team. And that's putting it mildly.

The team compiled a number of unenviable school records, such as: least goals scored in a season (14), least points scored in a season (37), most losses (13), least wins (1)—against Buckfield), most goals allowed (50), most shots allowed (436), and worst shot/goal average (20.3 shots for each goal scored).

But the very young team—playing in Class B this year, as compared with Class C in years past—improved throughout the season.

Coach Bob Remington said, "If you look at all the records it doesn't look very good, but this was the toughest schedule we've ever had." All but one of the teams on Telstar's schedule made it into the playoffs.

Coach Remington believes his young charges enjoyed the games and didn't get too down as the losses mounted. "Most all of these kids realize there's another chance," he said.

In fact, only two of his starters will graduate in June, and he's happy with the starters he'll have remaining. "When we began the season, one of the prime objectives was to find a goalkeeper that would be around for awhile." He found Jimmy Merrill, a freshman, who played in goal the last game, relieving Stacey Roberts, who took over the duties from Ken Viger, who broke his ankle at the beginning of the season.

Coach Remington is also enthusiastic about having Scott Haines, a junior, and Amos Kimball, a sophomore, coming back next year.

The coach's highest praise for the team was that they continued to improve their skills throughout the season, and almost always did better against an opponent on the second meeting later in the season.

WEST BETHEL Children's Center

We have had another busy week with our theme centering around self-help, health, dental and physical. Sonny Blake came to the center on Wednesday to talk with the children about the different rules they should know when riding on the school bus. Sonny even took us for a ride to the bus garage for a nice little visit inside. A special thank you to Sonny for his time. Some of the stories being read were "Never talk to strangers," "Stay-safe, play-safe," and "bodies." Next week our theme will be centered around colors and shapes.

There are still openings for those children between the ages of 2½ to 6 in our day care program. If interested please call 836-3780. Thank you to volunteers Linda Gibbs and Nancy Howe for classroom time and to drivers Nancy Howe, Joey Riley, Monica Mann and Polly Mills.

Judy Walker of Bryant Pond, daughter of Gerald and Florence Walker, has recently returned home from a five week course at Associated Schools of Travel in North Miami, Fla. Judy graduated with an average of 93. During her stay in Florida, she took a cruise to Freeport, Bahamas.
